

Dateiauswertung

GLEICH

.git/hooks/commit-msg.sample

|                 |                              |
|-----------------|------------------------------|
| Branch 1 | main                         |
| Branch 2 | current                      |
| Datei    | .git/hooks/commit-msg.sample |
| Typ      | Datei                        |

Bewertung

SHA-256 identisch.

Dateiinhalt / Vergleich

|    |                                                                                |
|----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1  | #!/bin/sh                                                                      |
| 2  | #                                                                              |
| 3  | # An example hook script to check the commit log message.                      |
| 4  | # Called by "git commit" with one argument, the name of the file               |
| 5  | # that has the commit message. The hook should exit with non-zero              |
| 6  | # status after issuing an appropriate message if it wants to stop the          |
| 7  | # commit. The hook is allowed to edit the commit message file.                 |
| 8  | #                                                                              |
| 9  | # To enable this hook, rename this file to "commit-msg".                       |
| 10 |                                                                                |
| 11 | # Uncomment the below to add a Signed-off-by line to the message.              |
| 12 | # Doing this in a hook is a bad idea in general, but the prepare-commit-msg    |
| 13 | # hook is more suited to it.                                                   |
| 14 | #                                                                              |
| 15 | # SOB=$(git var GIT_AUTHOR_IDENT   sed -n 's/^(\.>\)./Signed-off-by: \1/p') |
| 16 | # grep -qs "^$SOB" "$1"    echo "$SOB" >> "$1"                             |
| 17 |                                                                                |
| 18 | # This example catches duplicate Signed-off-by lines and messages that         |
| 19 | # would confuse 'git am'.                                                      |
| 20 |                                                                                |
| 21 | ret=0                                                                          |
| 22 |                                                                                |
| 23 | test "" = "$(grep '^Signed-off-by: ' "$1"                                    |
| 24 | sort   uniq -c   sed -e '/^[ ]*1[ ]/d')"    {                                  |
| 25 | echo >&2 Duplicate Signed-off-by lines.                                        |
| 26 | ret=1                                                                          |
| 27 | }                                                                              |
| 28 |                                                                                |
| 29 | comment_re="$(                                                                |
| 30 | {                                                                              |

|    |                                                                         |
|----|-------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 31 | git config --get-regexp "^core\\.comment(char string)\\$"              |
| 32 | echo '#'                                                                |
| 33 | }   sed -n -e '                                                         |
| 34 | ${                                                                     |
| 35 | s/^[^ ]* //                                                             |
| 36 | s [][*\\.\\] \& g                                                      |
| 37 | s/^auto$/[#;@!$%^& :]/                                                |
| 38 | p                                                                       |
| 39 | }'                                                                      |
| 40 | )"                                                                      |
| 41 | scissors_line="^${comment_re} -\\{8,\\} >8 -\\{8,\\}\\$"              |
| 42 | comment_line="^${comment_re}.*"                                        |
| 43 | blank_line='^[ ]*$'                                                    |
| 44 | # Disallow lines starting with "diff -" or "Index: " in the body of the |
| 45 | # message. Stop looking if we see a scissors line.                      |
| 46 | line="$(sed -n -e "                                                    |
| 47 | # Skip comments and blank lines at the start of the file.               |
| 48 | /${scissors_line}/q                                                    |
| 49 | /${comment_line}/d                                                     |
| 50 | /${blank_line}/d                                                       |
| 51 | # The first paragraph will become the subject header so                 |
| 52 | # does not need to be checked.                                          |
| 53 | : subject                                                               |
| 54 | n                                                                       |
| 55 | /${scissors_line}/q                                                    |
| 56 | /${blank_line}/!b subject                                              |
| 57 | # Check the body of the message for problematic                         |
| 58 | # prefixes.                                                             |
| 59 | : body                                                                  |
| 60 | n                                                                       |
| 61 | /${scissors_line}/q                                                    |
| 62 | /${comment_line}/b body                                                |
| 63 | /^diff -/{p;q;}                                                         |
| 64 | /^Index: /{p;q;}                                                        |
| 65 | b body                                                                  |
| 66 | " "$1")"                                                               |
| 67 | if test -n "$line"                                                     |
| 68 | then                                                                    |
| 69 | echo >&2 "Message contains a diff that will confuse 'git am'."          |
| 70 | echo >&2 "To fix this indent the diff."                                 |
| 71 | ret=1                                                                   |
| 72 | fi                                                                      |
| 73 |                                                                         |
| 74 | exit $ret                                                              |